Profile

I strive to obtain insights at how products and concepts may enrich our lives through pleasant and sometimes playful experiences. I am engineer, designer, developer. I like to tinker and spend lots of time in my workshop. I play the saxophone. I love my family. I like calm walks through crisp and golden late-autumn woods. I am curious. I am quick to learn. I am a casual perfectionist with love for the detail. I like to walk my own way in order to reach the unreachable. Sometimes I get lost doing so. But hey, Columbus was not actually searching for America when he discovered it...
